Important Safety Information

WARNING

If you are in any doubt that you can lift the equipment safely, do not try to move it without help.

For your safety, never remove the PC's cover without first removing the power cord from the power outlet and any connection to a telecommunications network. If a Power Protection Device is fitted to your PC, you must shut down your computer using the on/off switch, then remove the power cord before removing the PC's cover. Remove the Power Protection Device cables before any servicing operation. Always replace the cover before switching the PC on again.

To avoid electric shock, do not open the Power Supply Unit. There are no serviceable parts inside. For your safety only replace with a Power Supply Unit provided by HP Support Services.

Ensure that the electrical power requirements of your PC (refer to the label on the Power Supply Unit) can be suitably provided by your electrical installation.

There is a danger of explosion if the battery is incorrectly installed. For your safety, never attempt to recharge, disassemble, or burn an old battery. Only replace the battery with the same or equivalent type, as recommended by the manufacturer. The battery in this PC is a lithium battery which does not contain any heavy metals. Nevertheless, in order to protect the environment, do not dispose of batteries in household waste. Please return used batteries either to the shop from which you bought them, to the dealer from whom you purchased your PC, or to HP so that they can either be recycled or disposed of in the correct way. Returned batteries will be accepted free of charge.

If you have a modem:

Do not attempt to connect this product to the phone line during a lightning storm. Never install telephone jacks in wet locations unless the telephone line has been disconnected at the network interface. Never touch uninsulated telephone wires or terminals unless the telephone line has been disconnected at the network interface. Use caution when installing or modifying telephone lines. Avoid using a telephone (other than a cordless type) during a lightning storm. There may be a risk from lightning.

Do not use the telephone to report a gas leak in the vicinity of the leak

Never touch or remove the communications board without first removing the connection to the telephone network.

Setting Up and Using Your PC

IMPORTANT ERGONOMIC INFORMATION

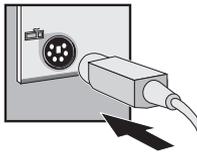

Improper and prolonged use of keyboards and input devices are among those tasks associated with repetitive strain injury (RSI) to soft tissues in the hands and arms. If you do experience discomfort or pains while using any computing equipment, discontinue use immediately and consult your physician as soon as possible.

Your comfort and safety are our primary concern. Consequently, we strongly recommend that you read HP's ergonomic information before using your PC. For detailed information, refer to HP's online version of "Working in Comfort" which is preloaded on your PC's hard disk or visit HP's Working in Comfort Web Site at: www.hp.com/ergo/.

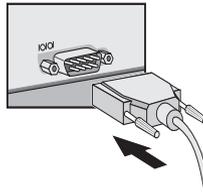

A summary is provided in the "Comfort and Safety Checklist" on page 9.

Connecting Multimedia Accessories

To avoid electrical shock and harm to your eyes by laser light, do not open the laser module. The laser module should only be serviced by service personnel. Do not attempt to make any adjustment to the laser unit. Refer to the label on the CD-ROM for power requirements and wavelength. This product is a class 1 laser product.

Always turn the volume down before connecting the headphones or speakers. This avoids discomfort from unexpected noise or static. Listening to loud sounds for prolonged periods of time may permanently damage your hearing. Before putting on headphones, place them around your neck and turn the volume down. When you put the headphones on, slowly increase the volume until you find a comfortable listening level. When you are able to hear comfortably and clearly, without distortion, leave the volume in that position.

- 1 Connect the HP multimedia keyboard to the PC. The connectors are color-coded for easy matching.
 - 2 Connect the microphone and headphones (or amplified speakers) to the keyboard.

NOTE

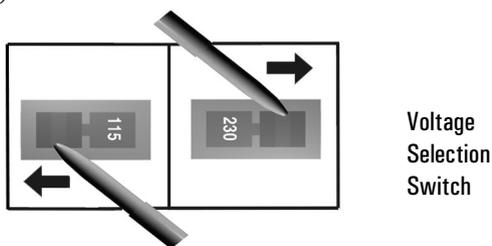

Connect devices such as a smart card reader to both a serial connector and a mouse port (not a keyboard port, which does not provide enough power).

Connecting the Power Cord

WARNING

For your safety always connect equipment to a grounded wall outlet. Always use a power cord with a properly grounded plug, such as the one provided with the equipment, or one in compliance with your national safety standards. This equipment can be disconnected from the power by removing the power cord from the power outlet. This means the equipment must be located close to an easily accessible power outlet.

- 1 Remove the warning label covering the PC's power connector, and ensure that the voltage setting is correct for your country. (The voltage is set during manufacture and should already be correct.)

- 2 Connect the power cords to the rear of the monitor and the computer. (The connectors are shaped to go in one way only.)
- 3 Connect the monitor's power cord and the computer's power cord to a grounded outlet.

NOTE

Hewlett-Packard does not support power supply upgrades. Power supply installation information is only intended to assist with the replacement of a defective power supply unit. For your safety, only replace your power supply unit with one provided by HP Support Services.

Stopping Your PC

To stop the PC, first make sure that you have exited all applications and then use your operating system's shut down command in the Start menu (for Windows NT 4.0, Windows 95, Windows 98 and Windows 2000 operating systems). If you want to force your PC to shut down (for example, after your operating system has crashed), press and hold the power button for approximately 5 seconds.

Comfort and Safety Checklist

Preparing Your Work Environment

When using HP computing equipment, it is important that your work environment contributes to your comfort and productivity:

- Work Surface Height - Your work surface should be height adjustable. To ensure that your worksurface is at the correct height, first adjust the height of your chair so that your feet are firmly on the floor, then adjust the work surface height until your forearms are parallel to the floor when you have your fingers on the keyboard or other input devices.
- Chair - Your chair should provide a comfortable sitting position including features such as a height and tilt adjustment feature, curved seat edge, a stable base (for example, five legs and castors, adjustable back support, a freely rotating swivel, fully adjustable padded arm rests).
- Monitor - Place your monitor so that the top of the screen is at, or slightly below, eye level (up to 15 degrees).
- Work Surface Arrangement - Make sure that all elements of your HP computer system for example, monitor, document holder, keyboard, mice and other input devices, and headphones and speakers- are optimally arranged and adjusted to meet your personal requirements. For example, if you are primarily using the keyboard, place it directly in front of you, not to the side. If your work involves extensive use of a mouse or other pointing device, place that device directly in front of your left or right arm.

If you are using both a mouse and keyboard, place them both at the same work surface height and close together. If a palm rest is used, the height should be flush with the front edge of the keyboard. Other items, such as your telephone or notepad, should also be considered.

CAUTION

Various aspects of using mice, keyboards and other input devices may increase your risk of discomfort or injury. Optimize your comfort and safety by positioning these devices properly.

Your Work Posture

Sitting in one position for long periods can be uncomfortable. To minimize the potential risk for physical discomfort or injury, it's important that you maintain a proper posture.

- Head - When viewing your monitor, your head should not be tilted more than 15 degrees forward, and do not turn your head toward either side.
- Back - While sitting at your work surface, make sure your back is supported by the chair's backrest in an erect position or angled slightly backwards.
- Arms - Make sure your arms and elbows are relaxed and loose, with your upper arms perpendicular to the floor or tilted downward not more than 15 degrees. Keep your forearms and hands approximately parallel with the floor with elbows bent between 70 and 115 degrees. Keep your elbows close to your sides (less than 20 degrees away from your body).
- Hands, Wrists, Forearms - Try to keep your hands wrists and forearms in a relaxed neutral position when using your mouse keyboard or other input devices. For example, while using your keyboard and mouse, rest your forearms (flat) on your desktop.
- Legs - Your thighs should be horizontal or angled slightly downward. Your lower legs should be near a right angle to your thighs. Make sure there is sufficient room under the work surface for your legs.
- Feet - If after adjusting your chair you cannot rest your feet comfortably on the floor, use a footrest, preferably one that can be adjusted in height and angle.

Overall

- Look away from the screen from time-to-time to help reduce eyestrain. Focus on distant objects briefly, and blink periodically to lubricate your eyes. You also should have your eyes checked on a regular basis and ensure your eyeglass prescription is suitable for working on a computer monitor.
- Remember to occasionally shift position and move your body. Keeping your body in one position for long periods is unnatural and stressful. When prolonged work is required, take frequent short breaks. As a rule of thumb, a five or ten minute break every hour is a good idea. Short frequent breaks are more beneficial than longer less frequent breaks. Data show that people who work for long periods of time without a break may be more prone to ergonomic injury.
- Changing tasks frequently will help prevent muscle stiffness. Examples: alternating between keyboarding, reading, writing, filing, and moving around in your work environment, helps you maintain a relaxed posture. Occasionally stretch the muscles in your hands, arms, shoulders, neck and back. You should stretch at least as often as you take brief task breaks—at least once every hour.
- Discomfort may be alleviated by using alternative ergonomic designs and accessories such as ergonomically personalized chairs, palm rests, keyboard trays, alternative input devices, prescription eyeglasses, anti-glare screens, and more. Seek additional information from the sources available to you, including your employer, doctor, local office supply store, and the Information Sources listed in the online version of Working in Comfort, preloaded on the hard disk of your HP computing equipment.

Operating temperature and humidity ranges may vary depending on the mass storage devices installed. High humidity levels can cause improper operation of disk drives. Low humidity ranges can aggravate static electricity problems and cause excessive wear of the disk surface.

The power consumption and acoustics figures given in the tables above are valid for the standard configuration as shipped. For more information, refer to the product's data sheet at HP's web site: www.hp.com/desktop

When the computer is turned off with the power button on the front panel, the power consumption falls below 3W, but it is not zero. The special on/off method used by these computers considerably extends the lifetime of the power supply. To reach zero power consumption in "off" mode, either unplug the power outlet or use a power block with a switch.

Recycling Your PC

HP has a strong commitment toward the environment. Your HP Personal Computer has been designed to respect the environment as much as possible.

HP can also take your old PC back for recycling when it reaches the end of its useful life.

HP has a product take-back program in several countries. The collected equipment is sent to one of HP's recycling facilities in Europe or the USA. As many parts as possible are reused. The remainder is recycled. Special care is taken for batteries and other potentially toxic substances, which are reduced into non-harmful components through a special chemical process.

If you require more details about HP's product take-back program, contact your dealer or your nearest HP Sales Office.
