Note

- When using digital-TV STB connection, pillar box video (eg. black bar left/right of video) cannot be justified.

HDMI connection

HDMI (high-definition multimedia interface) allows you to enjoy high-definition digital images and high-quality sound by connecting the TV unit and the equipment.

HDMI-compatible equipment (*1) with an HDMI or DVI output terminal, such as a set top box or a DVD player, can be connected to the HDMI terminal using an HDMI compliant (fully wired) cable.

- HDMI is the world's first complete digital consumer AV interface complying with a non-compression standard.
- If the external equipment has only a DVI output, connect to the HDMI1 terminal via a DVI to HDMI adapter cable (*2) (analogue connection).
- When the DVI to HDMI adapter cable is used, connect the audio cable to the audio input terminal.
- Audio settings can be made on the "HDMI1 input" menu screen. (p. 14)
- Applicable audio signal sampling frequencies (2ch L.PCM): 48 kHz, 44.1 kHz, 32 kHz

(*1): The HDMI logo is displayed on an HDMI-compliant equipment. (*2): Enquire at your local digital equipment retailer shop.

Note

- HDMI2 terminal is for digital signal only.
- PC DVI video resolution is not supported using DVI connection.
- The 720p/1080i signals will be reformatted before being displayed on the screen.
- If the connected equipment has an aspect adjustment function, set the aspect ratio to "16:9".
- These HDMI connectors are "type A".
- An equipment having no digital output terminal may be connected to the input terminal of either "Component", "S-VIDEO", or "Video" to receive analogue signals.
- The HDMI input terminal can be used with only the following image signals: 480i, 480p, 576i, 576p, 720p and 1080i. Match the output setting of the digital equipment.
- For details of the applicable HDMI signals, see p. 26.

FAQs

Before requesting service or assistance, please follow these simple guides to resolve the problem. If problem still persists, please contact your local Panasonic dealer or Panasonic Customer Care Centre for assistance.

White spots or shadow images (noise)

- Check the position, direction, and connection of the aerial.

Operating temperature

- The LCD TV radiates heat and some sections may become warm. This is not a problem for performance or quality. Ensure TV is correctly installed as detailed on page 5.

There may be red spots, blue spots, green spots and black spots on the screen. [Pixel Statement (LCD)]

- An image on an LCD panel is created by many dots known as pixels. The more pixels on the panel, the more detailed image can be displayed. To create a colour image each pixel is made up of three tiny coloured dots (1 each of red, green and blue). This gives a total far in excess of one million individual dots manufactured into the panel. Each one of three dots is precisely controlled by the electronics of the TV to produce the picture.
- Whilst Panasonic maintains the highest standards in manufacturing technology and processes in the construction of these panels, there are a number of allowable Pixel/Dot failures that would still allow the panel to be defined as a good panel. It is not possible to guarantee absolutely no pixel loss.

Pictures from an equipment are unusual when the equipment is connected via HDMI

- Is the HDMI cable connected properly? (p. 22)
- Turn Off the TV unit and equipment, then turn them On again.
- Check an input signal from the equipment. (p. 26)
- Use an equipment compliant with EIA/CEA-861/861B.
- Using DVI connection, see page 23.

The remote control does not work

- Are the batteries installed correctly? (p. 6)
- Has the TV unit been switched On?
- Has the battery run down?
